

PRESS RELEASE

Darryl Cotton and Wolf Segal will be guests on the Heroes and Patriots podcast to discuss what, since the passage of Prop. 64, has been a steady takeover of medical cannabis by those attorneys and lobbyists, who have found ways to corrupt the system and those within government who through their licensing and regulatory influence self-enrich in this all-cash industry.

PODCAST TIME AND DATE: February 5, 2026, at 9:00 AM hosted on KMUD Radio at <https://heroespatriots.org/>

Join us to hear why, with the advent of time and the benefit of hindsight, NOW is the time to inform yourself as to what actions you can take to correct any harms you might have suffered personally during the march to regulated cannabis or as a taxpayer living in a community where local government might have a hard time explaining where those cannabis tax revenues, you know those revenues that were promised to fix all the budgetary issues brought on by decades of mismanagement, with the elixir that is robust cannabis tax revenue. We will be discussing;

- 1) Why the California Public Records Act (“CPRA”) requests are an integral part of what begins your odyssey to determine the scope of what might be unlawful activities?
- 2) The practical and proven methods to uncover those CPRA records that will help identify specific problems where records and transparency at the local government level are lacking.
- 3) What are the tell-tale signs that you’re dealing with lawyers and lobbyists who might be a little too cozy with those who regulate and tax cannabis in your community. (No, you’re not crazy!)
- 4) Do you need a lawyer to begin this research?
- 5) What are the potential remedies relative to individual damage and/or multiple parties who have suffered from these practices?

Hosted by John Sakowicz and Mary Massey, the show features guests Darryl Cotton at 151farmers.org on the left and Wolf Segal on the right, who have been medical cannabis activists and self-represented litigants in a number of cannabis related cases spanning years in both state and federal courts. These cases have revolved around the constitutional protections that we, as citizens, should be afforded but so often when it comes to cannabis are given the proverbial pat on the head and told to go away. That is no longer the case, and it is a result of their activities that they can speak to what has recently changed that would create an environment where the change that is needed, the transparency and accountability that should be expected, is within reach. Please join our Facebook Very Public City and County Regulation Watch group to track ongoing developments to these actions.
